WASHINGTON NEWS.

Unwritten History in Which Garfield Figured.

Democratic Leaders Preparing for the Coming Canvass.

Change in House Rules Growing in Favor.

WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—The following is related by a prominent ex-union general as a piece of unwritten history in connection with the Rosecrans-Garfield letter. It brings to the surface a hitherto forgotten fact which will tend to strengthen the well known friendship and affection which existed between the two. It will be remembered that General Garfield was a delegate from Ohio in 1864 in the Baltimore convention and nominated President Lincoln for his second term. After Lincoln had been nominated Garfield telegraphed Rosecrans, then in St. Louis, as follows: "Vice-presidency going a begging. Will you accept?" General Rosecrans after consultation with a well-known general now in Washington consented and sent an answer to General Garfield. Having, it is said, been suppressed by Stanton in the war department through whose hands all telegrams went, in consequence Andrew Johnson received the nomination which General Rosecrans would have secured and the following event of Lincoln's death would have placed him in the presidential chair subsequently filled by Johnson. The system of espionage in the war department at that time brought with it the train of disaster which followed under the Johnson regime and which might have happily been averted in the placing of Garfield's friend, Rosecrans, in the presidential chair.

DEMOCRATIC CHIEF WANTED.

Chairman Barnum, of the national democratic committee is here to-day consulting with democratic leaders in congress in regard to the formation of democratic congressional committees and the management of the coming political canvass. There is some dissension among democrats as to who should be selected chairman of the executive committee, as the chairman will have control and direction of the canvass. It had been decided to elect Representative Flower, of New York, but the greenback element in the democratic party is opposed on account of his extreme hard-money views.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY BILL.

The house bill to provide for the admission into the union of the territory of Washington has been reported from the house committee on territories with amendments which wholly strike out the provision for including part of Idaho within the boundary of the proposed state, and which also stipulate that the state constitution shall provide that neither the money nor credit of the state or of any city, town or other municipal corporation therein shall give or loan to or in aid of any association, corporation or private undertaking, and that the aggregate debt of the state shall not at any time exceed one dollar per capita of population according to the last general census. They amended the bill further that the half million acres of public lands granted for school purposes shall not be sold for less than five dollars per acre, and that the funds derived from such sales shall be kept inviolate.

INDIAN LANDS WANTED.

The committee on Indian affairs have agreed to recommend the passage of a bill ratifying the agreement made with the Indians on the Fort Hall, Idaho, reservation for the sale of right of way through said reservation, to the Utah & Northern railway. The committee report that the construction of this road will be of undoubted benefit to the government, and the public, and to the Indians.

The same committee have reported favorably on Delegate Ainslie's bill appropriating one hundred and twenty thousand dollars to procure the cession to the United States government of three hundred and forty thousand acres of the Fort Hall and Lempi reservations which the Shoshones, Bannocks and Sheep Indians have agreed to relinquish for that sum. These lands embrace a number of fertile valleys that the Indians will not attempt to cultivate, but which white people are anxious to cultivate and make productive.

MORE VAULT ROOM.

The urgent deficiency bill, as it finally passed both houses and was approved by the president, provides an appropriation of $10,000 for constructing an additional vault in the San Francisco mint, and also appropriates $1,000 for repairing and enlarging the vaults and safes of the San Francisco sub-treasury and to pay for one additional.

NEW PLANET.

Smithsonian institute received from Prof. Forster, at Berlin, the announcement of the discovery by Palisa, on the 10th inst., of a planet of the 13th magnitude, 11 hours 10 minutes right ascension, 8 degrees 18 minutes north declination; daily motion 4 seconds.

CHANGE IN HOUSE RULES.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—All democrats cannot be depended upon to oppose the proposed change in the house rules. Several [illegible] tion with the view to call another caucus to change the programme of opposition, so as to suggest a modification of amendments instead of unconstitutional opposition. It is evident to all that under the present rules scarcely any bill calling for expenditure of money outside of regular appropriation bills will stand any show of passing. Members interested in public buildings, the improvement of the Mississippi, etc., are very loth to go home without something being done. Robinson and Reed are very confident the proposed amendments will be adopted, when their intent is more fully understood.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

Patents have been issued to Parvin Wright, of Granite, Colo., for a bed mattress, and to D. D. McIlvoy, of Golden, for a traveling hay press.

Shepherd will not testify before the committee of investigation on Chili matters until Wednesday, and further public investigation is postponed until that time.

The secretary of war has directed ten thousand additional rations to be issued to Commissioner Watson at Mound City, Illinois, for the relief of the sufferers by the flood.

The secretary of war has telegraphed General Hancock approving the order in the Sergeant Mason case providing for Mason's imprisonment in the penitentiary at Albany.

M. C. Reerdell, Albion O. Buck, W. W. Jackson, and Miss Kate M. Armstrong, defendants in the Star route cases, gave bail to-day in sums varying from $1,000 to $5,000.

The president has approved an act authorizing the use of naval vessels in aid of sufferers from the Mississippi floods, and an act making an appropriation for the proposed Garfield monument.

Agent Armstrong has been instructed by the secretary of the interior to send a hundred Crow children under his care at the Crow agency, Montana, to certain farmers in Ohio to be educated and reared up to usefulness.

J. A. Bingham, United States minister at Tokio, sends one hundred dollars for the national Garfield memorial hospital, and expresses the hope that ten thousand of his countrymen will each contribute a like or larger sum to this noble enterprise.

Cheng Tsas Ju, the newly accredited Chinese minister, gave his first reception this evening to the president and several members of the cabinet, judges of the supreme court, ex-Secretary Blaine, members of the diplomatic corps, many senators and members attended.

The senate committee on Indian affairs agreed substantially on Coke's bill to provide allotment of land in severalty to Indians on reservations, and to extend civil and criminal laws of the respective states and territories to Indians, to whom the lands are so alloted within their boundary.

Chinaman's Wife Murdered.

CLEVELAND, O., March 11.—Mrs. Tempey Davis, wife of a Chinaman, was found dead fearfully gashed with a razor this afternoon. She was married last July in Cincinnati. She had been working as a domestic in Nashville but about three months ago she and two Chinaman came here and for six weeks the trio jointly occupied the narrow basement where the body was found. Sam made and peddled wax flowers; Chung peddled tea. Both Chinamen were out this afternoon selling their wares. Sam returned at 4 o'clock and found the woman stretched on her bed cold in death. He informed the people up stairs who notified the police. Both Chinamen were imprisoned, pending the inquest. Sam says deceased for several days had believed her husband, Davis, from whom she was not divorced, was boarding in the upper part of the house and would arrest her for bigamy.

Chinese Citizenship.

NEW YORK, March 11. On the question of Chinese and naturalization the Tribune says: "The interest which Chinamen in this city take in the question and the fact that they read the papers was illustrated in the clerk's office of common pleas yesterday. Three of them hurried in and wanted to get at once their papers "to votee," but Jarvis, clerk of the court, found that they never had declared their intention, and therefore they had to stop at that point, and will have to wait two years more before they can "votee." Of course if the bill passed by the senate with its amendments becomes a law it will prevent state as well as federal courts from issuing any more naturalization papers to Chinamen, but the fifteenth amendment to the constitution will protect the rights of those already naturalized.

Rosecrans' Ingratitude.

CHICAGO, March 11. Saturday's Tribune says: After his defeat at Chickamauga and rescue at Chatanooga by Grant, Rosecrans was placed on the retired list. He resigned out of the army and drifted to California, where in 1880 he emerged into the light of day as democratic candidate to congress. In his California harangues he vilified Garfield, calling him a thief and using other scurrilous language. The wonder is that Garfield was ever loyal to so coarse and unworthy a man.

CHICAGO, March 11.—Mayor Harrison writes to the Times that in 1864, being invited by gentlemen of the city to be present at a reception in honor of Garfield, he was struck by the high praise accorded by Garfield to Rosecrans. From the conversation he had with Garfield he found he regarded Rosecrans as one of the most skillful of generals. His commendation was earnest, and left no ground for doubt as to his sincerity. The mayor intimates that he regards the recent published letter attributed to Garfield and attacking General Rosecrans as a forgery.

Building Overthrown by Wind.

BOLIVAR, N. Y., March 11.—A special says that a three story building was demolished by the wind yesterday, and the whole structure collapsed, burying four men. One of them, Fred Riscbe, is reported [illegible]

FLOOD AND FAMINE.

Extent of Damage and Suffering Hard to Exaggerate.

Outlook for the Cotton Crop Very Discouraging.

Richest Sugar District of Louisiana Covered.

MEMPHIS, March 11.—Passengers from below report a break in the levee eleven and one half miles above Frear's Point, Mississippi. The break occurred yesterday and although Frear's Point will be overflowed from the break, yet occurring where it did, the town will not suffer by washing through, as at Austin.

NEW ORLEANS, March 11.—The New Orleans, Chicago and St. Louis railroad is again submerged and impassable in this neighborhood. The water of the Mississippi valley overflow has assumed alarming proportions in all that section. A countryman arrived from Red River and reports twenty families below Alexandria living on rafts and in a deplorable condition. The bayous and levees are still giving way rapidly. All are green earth, which crumbles as fast as the water pushes against it. One gap is one thousand feet wide, and the water as it goes through is ten feet deep but rapidly is growing deeper, and is spreading far and wide over the country, and will overflow part of this parish and all the land west of Baton Rouge, and all portions of Assumption, St. Mary, Iberia and Terrebonne, the richest sugar district of Louisiana. The loss of property and the suffering to the people will be terrible, the state engineer says, unless an attempt is made to stop the crevice. The people of Bayou Sara are making a brave fight against the flood, all stores are closed and every man is at work on the levee which protects the place, while a draining machine is working against a fearful pressure.

NEW ORLEANS, March 11.—Colonel Thomas Lalrey, president of the corn exchange and chief state engineer, says the overflow in Louisiana covers a large part of the rear land in the east part of Carroll, Madison, Tensas and Concordia, and considerable areas in the west part of Morehouse, Richland, Ouachita, Caldwell, Franklin and Catahoula, and is caused by the Mississippi river water escaping through broken levees in Chicot and Desha counties in Arkansas, below the mouth of Red river. Large territories are now being overflowed in Point Coupee, St. Landry, West Baton Rouge, La Fourche and several other parishes, and the opinion is expressed by competent authorities that this overflow is likely to increase in depth and extent. The Point Coupee crevasse will add much to the overflow of the parishes below the mouth of Red river bottom and every parish on the Mississippi. Long stretches of defective and imperfect levees will require entire rebuilding. The extent of the damage and suffering it is impossible to estimate at this juncture. The annual production of cotton alone in the parishes above named is fully three hundred thousand bales valued at ten millions of dollars, and the outlook is extremely discouraging.

HELENA, ARK., March 11.—The river is falling, and the overflow into the city is very heavy, but no alarm is felt.

LITTLE ROCK, March 11.—Lieutenant Vedder in regard to the flood says he does not now see how anything so appalling could be exaggerated. The river is higher than has ever been known. At places along the railroad in Desha county, where the water was never known to reach in the past, a strong current is now sweeping. Four thousand people in Desha and five thousand in Chicot county need supplies, and three-fourths of the territory in both counties is under water. As to the appropriation necessary, it is believed four hundred thousand would be needed. People will be in just as bad a condition when the water goes down as they are now. The government will have to take care of them at least ninety days and will have to assist in putting in their crops. After the crops are planted they can obtain supplies in the usual way, by mortgages. He has made a report to this effect to the war department and will return to Memphis to-night.

MEMPHIS, March 11. The river is an inch lower to night. Crevasses near Lake Charles were caused by high wind. One camp was deluged and their outfit carried away while the men were asleep. Secretary Lincoln sends 20,000 rations to Memphis for Tennessee sufferers. In Washington county, Mississippi, there is a doleful state of affairs; levees broken down, creeks high and lands flooded, Greensville barely escaped through temporary works. Eight to ten thousand are homeless in the county, having lost their stock and everything else they possessed.

Through to the Pacific.

BOSTON, March 11.—The Post says: After two days' negotiation the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad company has purchased the Sonora railroad and secured an independent line to the Pacific. The contract of sale provides that the Atchison shall guarantee interest on first mortgage of seven per cent. bonds, and issue one share of Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe stock for two shares of Sonora stock. This gives the Atchison road [illegible] sidy paid and to be paid amounts to $2,608,200 in gold, while the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe gives but $1,700,000 in stock at par, for Sonora stock. This purchase gives the Atchison system an independent Pacific coast outlet, and completes the largest continuous line of railway in the world. Stock had a boom on this information to-day.

Petitions for Pardon.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 11.—A majority of nihilists recently tried and condemned to death intend to present petitions to the czar for mercy through their counsel. By the decision of Procurator Mouravoff counsel will not be allowed to consult their clients alone, but will be permitted to consult them only in the presence of gendarmes. One of the counsel having complained of Procurator Mouravoff's decision, Senator Bielstobski, having jurisdiction over affairs of criminals, replied that he is unable to interfere. The mother of Suchanoff sent a petition for the pardon of her son to Bielastobski but he declined to receive it. The condemned prisoners requested their counsel to render the last service in their power by being present at their execution.

The Czar's Rebuke.

LONDON, March 11.—A Berlin telegram reporting the czar's rebuke to Skobeloff for his recent utterance, reports the czar to have said: Even Turkey raises her head and refuses to sign the convention for payment of war expenses, because she hopes war will soon break out between Russia and Germany and Austria. You desired to be useful to the Slavs, but he irritated Germany, you have destroyed even that neutrality which was possible under the present circumstances. Germany as a neutral power in the Slav question was thinking of proposing to act as mediator. She now refuses to aid Slavs of the peninsula. Thus, thanks to you, Russia feels herself derided, hooted at and completely isolated in Europe.

A Dastardly Attempt.

HOUSTON, TEXAS, March 11.—A special from Palmer, Texas, says: Late on Thursday night an attempt was made to wreck the north-bound passenger train of the Houston & Texas Central about a mile south of town. Half a dozen or more ties were placed across the track on a long trestle at a point 30 feet above the water in a swollen stream. The engine pilot shoved all but two of the ties in front of it. Running on them the forward trucks raised about one foot above the rails, when the engineer, Thomas Clark, stopped the engine and averted a disaster. The train was heavily loaded, and those who would not have been killed would almost certainly have drowned. Had the train proceeded ten feet further this would have resulted. The passengers made up a purse for Engineer Clark. The railroad manager at once put two detectives at work ferreting out the scoundrels.

Scoville Interviewed.

CHICAGO, March 11. George Scoville yesterday remarked to a News reporter that he believes it is the best thing for the country that Guiteau should hang, for then there would be a revulsion in public feeling and Guiteau would do the country a great service by bringing about a revision of the laws to protect the insane. He had, however, asked President Arthur to have Guiteau sent to prison for life, and then if he became a raving maniac it would be easy to have him sent to an asylum. He believed this letter greatly angered the president.

Sergeant Mason Sentenced.

NEW YORK, March 11.—General Hancock approves and promulgates in a general order the sentence of Sergeant Mason who attempted to shoot Guiteau. He is condemned by the court martial to be dishonorably discharged from the army with loss of all pay and allowances, and be confined at hard labor in the penitentiary for eight years as a penalty. Albany is designated as the place of confinement, subject to approval.

The sentence meted out to Mason gives entire satisfaction to the morning journals.

Fatal Fight.

CINCINNATI, March 11.—The Times-Star Steubenville, O., special says: At five o'clock this morning two men at work in Gould's tunnel seven miles west on the Panhandle road, disputed and came to blows. They then went outside the tunnel and resumed the fight where one of them named Maraboy, in a few minutes fell dead, stabbed to the heart by the other, named Monahan. None of the laborers interfered, and Monahan escaped.

Fred Grant's Road.

HOUSTON, TEX., March 11. The stockholders of the Texas Western Narrow Gauge railway have resolved to bond the road at twelve thousand dollars per mile from Houston to Presidio del Norte, a distance of six hundred miles. The bonds bear six per cent. interest, to be issued on the completion of every ten miles. Fred Grant is president, and his brother Jesse has been elected treasurer.

Mason's Friends at Work.

CINCINNATI, March 11.—A petition for presentation to President Arthur for the pardon of Sergeant Mason has been circulated and is receiving a large number of signatures of prominent business men. The grounds presented for exercise of executive clemency are the excitement under which the shooting was done.

Ground Disappearing.

WILKESBARRE, PA., March 11.—This afternoon at the Baltimore mines owned by the Delaware and Hudson Canal company, over two acres of ground went down. The gap is widening constantly. No one was injured. People living near are leaving their houses and men are busy endeavoring to stop further progress.

Claiming the Honor.

NEW YORK, March 11.—The World is evidently anxious to have the people of the Pacific coast know that the Chinese bill recently passed is pre-eminently a democratic measure. It points proudly to the fact that only one democrat voted against it and only two eastern republican senators favored it and closes a long article by hoping the laboring men of the Pacific will not forget their indebtedness.

Rich Minerals.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 11.—A surveying party of the Tucson & Gulf of California railroad, accompanied by Prof. Van Buren, report the discovery of a remarkably rich mineral district in the upper [illegible]

OMAHA LABOR.

Work Resumed Without any Serious Disturbance.

Laborers Protected by Five Hundred Soldiers.

Arrest of Leading Agitators Charged With Assault.

OMAHA, March 10.—The strike grows more serious, and violence is feared. Three hundred and twenty more men have quitted work. Hot speeches were made in to-night's meeting.

OMAHA, March 11.—At noon to-day three companies of regulars from Sidney, two companies of regulars from Omaha, twenty sharp shooters, also a battery with gatling gun and howitzers, nine companies of militia from different parts of the state, proceeded to the B. & M. railway dumps, and were there put on duty to protect about one hundred men and a large number of teams from violence, or interference from strikers or labor union men. B. & M. laborers were brought in the city on a special train. No serious disturbances occurred. During the afternoon a big crowd gathered in the vicinity of the military camp. Some labor union men amused themselves by jeering and taunting the military. One militiaman, enraged beyond endurance, slightly bayoneted one of the men. This evening the regulars all proceeded to Fort Omaha to pass the night. The militia are camping in two or three vacant buildings that are being moved off the Burlington and Missouri grounds. The regulars and militia are under command of Col. Colby of the First regiment of Nebraska. The force consists of over five hundred men. Governor Nance and Adjutant General Alexander arrived in town this evening.

This morning the strikers from the smelting works, numbering three hundred men, returned to go to work and were told they could do so at the old wages and this they refused and marched out again.

This evening a saloon keeper, Barney Shannon, C. S. Wright, president of the Iron Moulders association, Ed Walsh, president of the labor union, and a number of prominent socialists and communists, were arrested on a charge of assault with intent to kill and were required to give one thousand dollars bail each. The complaint is based on the fact that they were leaders in getting up the recent parade and joined in the procession which raided the Burlington & Missouri laborers and brutally pounded three special police. Similar complaints have also been sworn out against John Doe and one hundred others, names not ascertained, and numerous arrests are being made. The labor union men have inaugurated a system of boycotting all retail tradesmen and all others who patronize the B. & M. railway in any way, or who are opposed to the present labor movement. A big out door mass meeting will be held at Jefferson square tomorrow.

The Willow Springs distillery, in which the government is interested to the extent of $1,000,000, is being guarded by a militia force, as are all the smelting works and some other establishments.

The Insurrection.

SCUTARI, March 11.—The Austrians to-day occupied Celkvise and Dragali, headquarters of the insurgents in Crivoskie. The fort at Dragali was mined and exploded by the insurgents. According to reports from Slavonic sources the Austrians fired upon the women and children in their flight from Dragali. The fugitives were allowed to pass the Montenegrin frontier.

BLUE BLOOD.

The Arrival in the City of an Aristocratic Canine.

Noticing somewhat of a commotion about the Adams express car as the train from the north reached the city yesterday morning, a reporter of the GAZETTE was prompted to investigate into the cause. As the reporter approached the car door, Agent Stubbs stepped upon the platform with an oddly constructed cage in his arms in which was confined a young dog of apparently the ordinary species, although a further investigation of the cage would convey a contrary impression. On all sides the cage was marked with such labels as, "Right side up with care," "Feed often," "Blanket when cold," and "Save no expense to make her comfortable." Accompanying the package was a letter from the superintendent of the Adams Express company at Philadelphia instructing all agents on the line to see that the dog was properly cared for and fed. On the back of this letter the several agents through whose hands the dog had passed stated in writing just what care the animal had and how often he had been fed. The agent on the Santa Fe between Kansas City and Pueblo made a sworn statement that the dog had been carried in his lap all the way and had been fed thirty-two times.

Ascertaining from Mr. Stubbs that the package was directed to Dr. C. E. Edwards the reporter called to see the notable arrival and make some enquiries as to its pedigree. The dog was found making himself at home [illegible] the lace curtains and having a general good time.

"Suppose you have come to see that wonderful dog," said the doctor as the reporter entered.

"Yes, doctor; I like a great many others have a natural curiosity to know something about her."

Well, to begin with, said the doctor, "Querida," as we have named her, came from the handsomest collection of pugs in this country, that of Mrs. Edwin A. Pue, of Philadelphia. She was sired by "George," the bluest of the blue-blood of Wales, being a scion of the Vivian family, celebrated the world over, who took the first prize at the Westminster bench show and the centennial exhibition. Her dam is "Julie De Mortimer," the handsomest and most notable dog in the Quaker City, who also belongs to Mrs. Pue's kennel.

"George," the pet and patriarch of the pug collection, was born in Paris, and Englishmen visiting Philadelphia have repeatedly declared that he is the peer, if he does not excel "Comedy," the crack dog of Great Britain.

Judging from the description given of the sire and dam "Querida" is "a chip from the old block." She is a magnificent animal who combines all the perfections of the pug family. Her tail curls on the right side and close to her back. She has been brought up among the fashionable canine society of Philadelphia, having associated with such aristocratic dogs as Mrs George W. Childs' "Zip" and Mrs. Wharton Fisher's "Rock."

SCHOOL EXHIBITION.

Entertainment by the Children at the Opera House To-morrow Night.

Superintendent Harris and the teachers of the public school have been devoting considerable time during the past few weeks in preparing the children for the exhibition which is to be given in the opera house tomorrow night for the benefit of the school library. Nearly all of the children who will participate in the performance are from the high grades. Yesterday a dress rehearsal was held in the opera house with a very satisfactory result. All of the children were well versed in the parts assigned them. The programme is a very interesting one throughout, consisting of choruses, recitations, dialogues, duets and tableaux. Especial pains have been taken in drilling the children for the production of a farce entitled, "The Loan of a Lover," which will be among the attractive features of the evening. Some of the musical selections are highly spoken of, this part of the programme being under the direction of Prof. Kent. Tickets are selling readily and from present indications there will be a crowded house. Below we print the programme in full:

Poor Mason is to go to the Albany state prison for eight years. This seems hard, but the good of the service demanded some such punishment. He will probably be pardoned out, however, without seeing much prison life.

The Register Call gives the following political information in regard to this county: "The fact is El Paso would support Teller for re-election, if Smith never was appointed. El Paso is by a large majority in favor of Teller as his own successor. The little opposition to him in that county is scarcely worth noticing."

Hon J B Chaffee writes his friends to the effect that while the weather is very pleasant down in Florida and he would like to stay there, business of a very urgent nature will shortly require his presence in Washington. Break the news gently, Chaffee is moving north.—[Pueblo Chieftain

Why break gently? Is he coming to Colorado to bet on the election of a democratic ticket in Leadville as he bet on the Arapahoe democratic ticket last fall, or is he about to place the mining stock of another Little Pittsburg?

The Colorado Springs GAZETTE says that the people of Colorado take as much interest in the Chinese bill as though we were already suffering from the presence of Chinamen. It further thinks that we are not, and that they do not come into competition with white labor. In all of which the GAZETTE is wrong. The Chinese are slowly, but steadily drifting towards Colorado and in nearly every important town, with the sole exception of Leadville, do they come into annoying competition with white labor.—[Leadville Democrat

We still insist on what we have said. The Chinaman has not yet come into annoying competition with white labor in this state. The Democrat fails to specify, except to say that it is outside of Leadville, or, rather, outside of where it has any personal experience. We have yet to learn of any serious competition of the Chinamen with the white laborers in this state. The Democrat will please mention place and occupation in its answer.

Our telegraph gives a summary of a bill to admit Washington Territory as a state. This is a little surprising. Washington Territory has a much smaller population than New Mexico or Utah, and yet neither one of the latter territories are asking for admission. It is possible that this is accounted for in the Mexican population in the one and the Mormon population in the other. Washington Territory had 75,000 people in 1880, and has considerable over that now. There is likely, within two or three years, to be a great deal of railroad building in this territory, which will greatly increase its population. It has now 69,000 square miles including the water surface. We hardly get an idea of the real size except by comparison — It is much larger than all of New England, now represented in the United Senate by twelve senators. Its population is largely engaged in farming, though the fishing and lumber interests are important. The territory was organized in 1853, or seven years before this one. As this territory has a strong republican majority it is probable that its admission will be treated as a party question.

WHAT A WAR IN EUROPE MIGHT DO

Skobeloff's speech seems to have had a wonderful effect in Europe. The czar thinks it may result in a war between Russia, Austria and Germany. Perhaps it will. If so the other nations in Europe should also take a part. The Slavs of southeastern Europe have for a long time been practically enslaved. It is sometimes said that a nation that cannot win its freedom does not deserve it. But the Slavs have not had a fair chance. They have been ruled by different nations and all Europe has thus far opposed their plans of union and independence. Austria and Turkey have been particularly active in keeping them down, while Christian England has occasionally interfered to keep the infidel yoke on her Christian brothers. That they are worthy of freedom is shown by the gallant contest for freedom that they have been making for the last century in Servia, Herzegovina and Bulgaria. In the latter country they have a quasi independence, but the little nation is not strong enough to have much influence. The people have shown strong national characteristics which must sooner or later assert themselves. They have kept their language, customs, religion and homes, intact as they were 500 years ago. If this war does take place England may undo the mischief she did in the treaty of Berlin. It is time that the map of southeastern Europe should be made over. The armed camp of the Turks should be driven into Asia. That part of the empire inhabited by Greeks should be added to Greece. The rest should be used in making a strong government made up of the Slavs, including Roumelia, Bulgaria, Roumania and Servia. This would make a strong, powerful nation, with strong national pride. If England and France were to insist on this it could be accomplished. It is only a question of will. As a matter of statesmanship, it would be wise because it sets up a strong nation to oppose the extension of Russian power in southeastern Europe. Divided, scattered, and without unity as they are, they must be absorbed by the greater powers surrounding, unless before the natural death of Turkey the Slavs are given a national existence. Unless this is done the great powers of Austria and Germany will also have a share of the spoils. The only objection to this is perhaps that the people who would compose this new government are of the same race as the Russians. But the extent of this influence would depend on how influential a part Russia took in making this nation. If it was done by the rest of Europe, there would be no debt of gratitude to pay to Russia and there would be all the jealousies which exist between two neighboring countries. The Germanic races have always had their national jealousies against each other. Germany and Austria are and have been bitter rivals. France, though its German blood has been a good deal diluted, is still peopled by one of the Germanic races, and for two centuries has had its wars with Prussia and what is now Germany. This race feeling therefore will not do away with national jealousy. If the Slavs are made a strong nation, they will be the best protection to Constantinople. It will then be guarded by a young and vigorous nation, instead of a rotten and dying tyranny. It would seem therefore that the broad policy of England dictated alike by selfishness and humanity would be to establish this nation. It certainly is to be expected that Gladstone will pursue such a policy. It will not be jingoism. It will be noble interference to give freedom and independence to a downtrodden people. If this war is to take place, we hope that it will come before Gladstone leaves the head of the English government.

LITERARY

Garfield's Place in History, An Essay by Henry C Pedder. G P Putnam's Sons, New York 1882.

This tribute to the memory and worth of the late president comes to us printed in the best manner on excellent paper, with type so clear that the mere reading of it is a pleasure in itself. It is a manly and loving tribute to the worth, intellect and greatness of Garfield. The author, of course, compares him to his advantage with other rulers who have died by violence, and with other presidents who have filled the chair of state before him. He admired and praised him for his true greatness, his courage, his scholarship his slow and sure advance upon the road to eminence without a cloud to obscure his fair reputation, and for his pure and heroic life. He notices the fact that the symmetry of his character is in itself so perfect that it almost hides some of his finest qualities. While recognizing the fact that we are too close upon the event to assign to him his true or at least his ultimate place in history he endeavors to show that in the future in the hands of the cold writer of mere history many of the finer lines of character will be lost, and the portrait to a degree conventionalized, and that the present is the time to record those finer traits which will by natural process of time pass from the estimation of the man in the popular mind. Best of all is the impression conveyed that our late beloved and admirable president, while undoubtedly a great and good man and a hero as well as statesman, was not exceptional but typical, and that Garfield was not only a great American but essentially a representative American.

LITERARY NOTES

Mr Robert Buchanan's new book is entitled "Ballads of Life, Love and Humor."

The author of "Philochristus" has in press a new book entitled "Onesimus—Memoirs of a Disciple of St Paul."

Mr R Louis Stevenson's "Studies in Men and Books" is nearly ready. Chatto & Windus, London, are his publishers.

Mr Stanley Lane Poole is editing for the Golden Treasury Series a volume of "Selections from the Writings of Mohammed."

Prof Sidney Colvin is editing for the Golden Treasury Series a volume of "Selections from the Writings of Walter Savage Landor."

In the English Citizen Series, the Hon A D Elliot member of parliament, is writing the book on "The State and the Church."

"Pole to Pyramid by Way of Palestine" is the title of a profusely illustrated book by the Hon S S Cox, which is in the press of G P Putnam's Sons.

Macmillan & Co will shortly publish a monograph by the Rev Prof J P Mahaffy of Trinity college Dublin, on "The Decay of Modern Preaching."

Miss Vaughan whose recent poetical works have been well received in England has a new volume of poems nearly ready. It will be published in Boston.

It is great news if true that comes from Athens and for which the Messager d'Athens is responsible. A manuscript of the Iliad written about 168 before Christ, has been discovered in a Greek monastery.

A new edition of the "Essays" of George Brimley, a noted Cambridge writer, who died just as he was becoming famous, has been called for, as also a new edition of Matthew Arnold's "Higher Schools and Universities in Germany."

The "Sonnets and Canzonets" of Mr A Bronson Alcott, the literary octogenarian, will soon be brought out by Roberts Brothers and will help to contradict the common opinion that the last works of poets and other idealists is not their best.

"A Tallahassee Girl" will be the novel for March in the Round Robin Series. It is laid in the capital of Florida, among the planter aristocracy, or what remains of it since the war. Much space is given to descriptions of the Florida scenery.

A new volume issued by the National Temperance society is by Mrs S M I Henry. In "The Voice of the Home," the career of the boy is traced from the early days of "bringing home the cows" through vice and repentance to the usual fate allowed to the heroes of temperance novels.

Mr Augustus Blauvelt, who aroused a small tempest in religious circles with articles on the Bible theology, and religion, in Scribner's Monthly, is about to issue "The Present Religious Crisis," a volume of discussions on kindred topics. The Messrs. Putnam are the publishers.

Blackie & Son, London, have just published the first installment of a new edition of "The Imperial Dictionary," a work which has been accepted as a standard lexicon of the English language, and has been extensively useful for more than a quarter of a century for general reference and every day requirements. The new edition has been in preparation for over ten years, and in the present volume goes as far as half way through the letter D.

The Earl of Iddesleigh's "Select Speeches," arranged and edited with an introduction and explanatory notes, by Mr T E Kebbel, have been brought out in two handsome and neatly printed volumes by the Longmans, London, and represents in compact form the chief political work which fell into his hands in parliament and elsewhere.

An account of the removal of the obelisk of Central Park will soon appear in a comprehensive book written by Lieut Commander Gorringe. "Egyptian Obelisks, Their History and Characteristics," will be published by G P Putnam's Sons in a folio volume. It will contain 49 plates of which 32 are full page "artotypes" and 17 photo-plate diagrams. The edition is limited.

Mr James Sime's "Schiller" in the series of Foreign Classics for English Readers edited by Mrs Oliphant, contains nearly all that ordinary readers care to know about this ambitious friend of Goethe in these days, and, like the same author's volume on "Lessing, His Life and Writings," is carefully and admirably written. The next volumes in the series will be "Tasso" by E J Hasell and "Rousseau" by Henry Graham.

Mr Joseph Irving's "Annals of Our Time," a diurnal of events social political home and foreign, from the accession of Queen Victoria, June 20 1837, to the peace of Versailles Feb 28 1871 has been thoroughly revised and the history brought down by supplements to July 1878. Macmillan & Co are the publishers. Indexes have been prepared to the original work as well as to the supplements and it is quite as useful for biographical as for historical purposes.

Mr Richard Stephen Charnock publishes through Trubner & Co London a useful little book entitled "Praenomina" which gives the etymology of the principal Christian names to the number of 1,000 in every day use or lingering in the literature of Great Britain and Ireland. The same subject has been ably treated by Miss Yonge, M Salverte and in the columns of Notes and Queries, but the present work aims to be useful as well as scholarly. It assists to the interpretation of surnames, many of which are based upon Christian names and the author believes that it will be a help to parents in giving appropriate names to their offspring.

Charles Scribner's Sons are issuing "The Bible Commentary," the new volume being the fourth on the New Testament. William Kay, D D, treats Hebrews, Dean Scott the Epistle of St James, Canon Cook and Prof Lumley the Epistles of St Peter, the Bishop of Derry the Epistles of John, Prof Lumley, Jude and Archdeacon Lee Revelation. "The Bible Commentary" was begun ten years ago in England under the title, The Speaker's Commentary. More than forty of the best English scholars were associated in order to make the work a most scholarly instructive and valuable series for general readers. They propose to make available to lay readers the treasures of modern research in antiquity and philology.

Killing of a Chinaman

Leadville Chronicle

The killing of the Chinaman in Denver is quoted as a striking proof of the undesirability of the presence of these people. It is striking proof of nothing but the willingness of some wretch to murder for $200. There is such a thing as generalizing from too narrow premises.

The Ages of the Patriarchs

Charles S Bryant in Popular Science

On a full examination of the question of patriarchal longevity the disparity of their ages to those of later times disappears. A very slight error in the translation of the Hebrew numbers has led to all this apparent disparity. The age of the antediluvians was not to exceed 120 years. Genesis vi 3: "And the Lord said, My spirit shall not always strive with man, for that he is also flesh yet his days shall be an hundred and twenty years." This was the regular good old age of men with special variations, both before and for some time after the days of Abraham.

In reading concrete numbers the Hebrews gave the large number first, thus: Ninety and seven for 97, 40 and 7 for 47. The reversal of this rule in the translation of Genesis v 3-5, as an illustration, will show the error in all similar cases. "Adam lived a hundred and thirty years and begat a son," etc. This is correct according to the rule. Seth was born when Adam was one hundred and thirty years old, and was his last child. But if the rule were here reversed as it is in the authorized version in the fifth verse, it would read thus, Adam lived thirty hundred years, and begat a son! This shocked the consciousness of the Christian translator, and he was driven to the true rule of the Hebrew uses in case of concrete numerals.

In the fifth verse we have the force of the violated rule thus: "And all the days that Adam lived were 930 years, and he died."—A V. The true reading by the rule would be, "and all the days of Adam, which he lived were a hundred years, and thirty and nine years, and he died," making the entire age of Adam 139 years instead of 930 years.

It will be seen on examination that concrete numeral adjectives in Hebrew as in other languages agree in number with their nouns. In the case cited in the A V the nine is made to agree with hundred in the singular and not with years in the plural. The error is seen at a glance, for the difference between "nine years" and "nine hundred years" is too great to be overlooked in any careful translation of a sacred book. The translator assumed that nine here agreed with hundred, when it had no such agreement, hundred in the text is itself a concrete numeral, and separately agrees with years, meaning a hundred of years. At the date of this writing the Hebrews had no means of writing "nine hundred," or any number of hundreds above one, without repetition or circumlocution. There were none of the masoretic points in use. In the case of the age of Terah, the father of Abraham the translators have made the attempt to make two hundred out of one hundred in the word mathim used in the plural as it might be to agree with years, thus making Terah 205 instead of 105 years old, at his death, holding the theory that the word mae (or 100) would in the plural mathim, make 200. This is contrary to all rule. The Hebrews could by pluralizing a numeral, less than 10 add ten fold to the unit, thus, hemosh, 5, hemoshim, 50. This rule applied in the case of Terah, would make him 10 times 105 years old, or 1050 years old. In the case of Terah the historic record conclusively contradicts the translation, and hence demonstrates the rule that pluralizing 100 does not, in the Hebrew tongue, make 200, while as to the numerals between 2 and 10 the rule might apply thus: Shelesh, 3, sheleshim, 30, and in a like manner to 10. With these corrections, referring to the ages of the patriarchs before the Noachian deluge, the article of M. de Solaville would show a wonderful uniformity in the age of man since the dawn of history.

From Adam to the flood the ages would read as in the table below, subject to a few uncertainties in the numbers below 100, as the numerals are sometimes pluralized for purposes of excellence when they were not increased tenfold. These cases are not always certain, the table to the flood is substantially true. The table is added, giving the ages of each at the time of his death.

1 Adam, 139 years and not 930 years
2 Seth 121 years and not 912 years
3 Enos 114 years and not 905 years
4 Cainan 119 years and not 910 years
5 Mahalaleel 122 years and not 895 years
6 Jared, 117 years and not 962 years
7 Enoch 114 years and not 365 years
8 Methuselah 1[illegible]4 years and not 969 years
9 Lamech 117 years and not 777 years
10 Noah 1[illegible]9 years and not 950 years
Average, 120 plus years

RELIGIOUS NOTES.

The Reformed (Dutch) church at Leeds N Y, has just celebrated its one hundred and fiftieth anniversary.

The Berkley Divinity school (Episcopal), at Middletown, Conn., receives $100,000 from the Sheffield estate, New Haven.

At the annual meeting of Mr Spurgeon's church it was reported that 70 members died during the year and 67 were received. The whole number is now 5,310.

Bishop Whipple (Protestant Episcopal) has announced his intention of licensing two women as lay readers in Glencoe, in the diocese of Minnesota, because he cannot find men for the work.

The Young Men's Christian association of New York reports 81 associations with 15,062 members, 16 reading rooms. Sixteen associations are working specially among railroad men, and 16 among boys.

There are seven Baptist associations, with 100 churches in Canada. Only 181 baptisms are reported, being less than two for each church. This is the smallest number of baptisms reported since 1857.

In August next the Moravian brethren will celebrate the third jubilee of their mission among the heathen, 1732 being the year in which Leopold and Dober set sail for St Thomas and the West Indies.

Lord Radstock, who is working as an evangelist in France, writes of successful meetings at Limoux. He says from 100 to 200 Catholics attend the services every night, and he thinks half of France has given up Catholicism.

The Presbyterian synods now conform to state lines. That of Pennsylvania heads the list with 131,000 communicants, that of New York has 130,874, Ohio has 68,926, New Jersey, 49,957, Illinois, 42,580, Indiana, 27,678, Iowa, 20,512.

The Rev Francis James Holland has been appointed by the queen canon of Canterbury. Mr Holland is a graduate of Trinity College, Cambridge, about 50 years of age, and was nominated one of the six preachers of Canterbury in 1859.

In the first decade of the Methodist Episcopal church there was 1 minister to every 100 members, in the fifth decade the proportion was 1 to 284. The present proportion is 1 minister to 117 members, against 112 in the ninth and tenth decades.

In nine months of 1881 the missionaries of the American Sunday school union organized 1,507 new Sunday schools, containing 7,110 teachers and 56,950 scholars. In the northwestern department alone 400 new schools were organized with 2,105 teachers and 17,123 scholars.

It is announced by the Friend of India that there [illegible] Eastern Bengal. Several thousand native Christians have seceded from the Roman Catholic communion and propose to become Protestants. The reasons for this extraordinary step have not been made known.

The Presbyterian Freedmen's Board paid out about $83,000 last year. This year they expect to expend fully $100,000 on freedmen's schools and churches. In Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky and Florida they have 160 churches, and 85 of these are in North Carolina.

A separation of church and state is proposed in the canton of Zurich, Switzerland. The sub-committee proposes disestablishment and endowment of the four main churches, the church of Zwingle and Lavater, and to pay 10,000,000f, in installments extending over 41 years, in the place of present privileges.

Prof Samuel Hopkins says that the number of Presbyterian ministers who favor the use of some form of prayers is large and constantly increasing. These ministers constantly use the Episcopal burial and marriage service, and there is quite an exodus of cultivated people from the Presbyterian to the Episcopal church.

The Congregationalists have in Iowa 238 churches and 140 ministers. The largest church is at Grinnell, with 550 members, and the next at Des Moines with 318. There are seven churches in the German association with a membership of 286. There are four more churches than last year, but five less ministers and 147 less members.

Sarah Bernhardt's Ghastly Bargain

London World, February 22

A queer lawsuit is in store for Parisians. Some two years ago Sarah Bernhardt, the "grande artiste" and universal genius took it into her head to be photographed reclining at full length in the famous ebony coffin padded with white satin, about which we have heard so much. The photographer, Melandri undertook to satisfy the lady's caprice, and obtained some excellent proofs, Sarah having simulated to perfection the stillness of death. Thereupon, Dona Sol said to Melandri, "I will make a bargain with you. Swear to me that you will not sell any of these photographs until after my death?" * * * "Oh, it will happen sooner than you expect. I promise you to die within a year from now. I am not joking. I have a presentiment, and my presentiments never deceive me. Furthermore, at the end of the year, if I am still in this world, I authorize you to sell as many of the photographs as you please." Melandri consented to this strange contract and executed faithfully his part of the bargain, but Sarah, happily for her admirers, neglected to keep her promise. Melandri wrote to Sarah while she was at New York reminding her that she no longer had a right to behold the light of the sun. "Patience," telegraphed Sarah, "at end of American engagement will fulfill engagement with you." Melandri waited, but when Sarah returned from Russia a few days ago he again reminded Dona Sol that she had no right to behold the light of the sun. "Patience," wrote Sarah once more, "I have promised to create three new pieces at Paris, after that you can sell photographs." But Melandri's stock of patience was exhausted and he has consequently referred his case to the tribunal of commerce of Paris.

A Quiver of Epigrams.

The qualities rare in a bee that we meet,
In an epigram never should fail;
The body should always be little and sweet,
And a sting should be left in its tail.

TO AUCTUS.

My works, the reader and the hearer praise,
They're not correct, a brother poet says;
I heed him not; for when I give a feast,
To please the cook I care not, but the guest.
—[Martial.

"Thou little rogue, what brings thee to my house?"
Said a starved miser to a struggling mouse.
"Friend," quoth the mouse, "thou hast no cause to fear;
I only lodge with thee, I eat elsewhere."
—[Lucillius

I sent for Ratcliffe; was so ill,
That other doctors gave me over,
He felt my pulse, prescribed my pill,
Said I was likely to recover.
When the wit began to wheeze,
And wine had warmed the politician,
Cured yesterday of my disease,
I died last night of my physician.
—[Matthew Prior.

Two nullities thin,
Called Bone and Skin,
Would starve us all, or near it;
But be it known
To Skin and Bone,
That flesh and blood can't bear it.
—[Byron

MARRIAGE IN HEAVEN.

Cries Sylvia to a reverend dean
What reason can be given,
Since marriage is a holy thing
That there is none in heaven?"
"There are no women," he replied.
She quick returns the jest—
"Women there are; but I'm afraid
They cannot find a priest."
—[Dodsley.

ON THE DEATH OF A GIRAFFE.

They say, God wot!
She died upon the spot.
But then in spots she was so rich—
I wonder which?
—[Tom Hood.

Jesus the Carpenter.

Songs in Minor Keys, Mr. Edward Liddell.

"Isn't this Joseph's son?"—ay, it is he:
Joseph the carpenter—same trade as me—
I thought as I'd find it—I knew it was here—
But my sight's getting queer.

I don't know right where, as his shed must ha' stood—
But often, as I've been a-planing my wood,
I've took off my hat, just with thinking of He
At the same work as me.

He warn't that set up that he couldn't stoop down
And work in the country for folks in the town;
And I'll warrant he felt a bit pride like I've done
At a good job begun.

The parson he knows that I'll not make too free,
But on Sunday I feels as pleased as can be,
When I wears my clean smock, and sits in a pew,
And has thoughts a few.

I think of as how not the parson hissen,
As is teacher and father and shepherd o' men,
Not he knows as much of the Lord in that shed,
Where He earned His own bread.

And when I goes home to my missus, says she,
"Are ye wanting your key?"
For she knows my queer ways, and my love for the shed
(We've been forty years wed.)

So I comes right away by mysen, with the book,
And I turns the old pages and has a good look
For the text as I've found, as tells me as He
Were the same trade as me.

Why don't I mark it? Ah, many says so,
But I think I'd as lief, with your leave, let it go:
It do seem that nice when I fall on it sudden—
Unexpected, ye know!

AMUSEMENTS.

Coming of the Phosa McAllister Company.

Much has been said during the past few weeks by the state press in the praise of Phosa McAllister and her excellent company, which appears at the opera house on next Friday and Saturday nights. Miss Phosa McAllister herself is a universal favorite in Colorado, having played in the state several times before. She recently closed a very successful engagement of two weeks at the Tabor opera house, Denver, and is now delighting Leadville audiences. The following notice taken from the Denver Republican will not be out of place:

Miss McAllister is an ambitious actress and hard student. While wedded to her profession, she possesses a strong leaning to social life, and wherever she has resided for any length of time she has been a favorite in the best social circles. She has a thorough contempt for the means so many of her profession avail themselves of to win success and renown, and very properly prefers to rely on true dramatic merit to win its own victory. She does not even "approve" of interviews, and except in a social way declined to receive a Republican representative. The merest insinuation that descriptions of her elegant costumes would please the lady readers of this paper brought forth the most earnest protest. Dresses, she said, were mere accessories to art, and should not be made the greatest attraction. The advertising of an actress' wardrobe is the surest sign of dramatic mediocrity and the scribe no further pressed the charming lady on this score. As to her personal career she was quite free and outspoken. After a thorough preparation she made her debut in the Academy of Music in New Orleans, in Guy Mannering, twelve years ago, when she was young in her teens under Miss Marriott, the great English star. Subsequently she appeared in St. Louis, where she closed her second season and opened her third in McVicker's theatre, Chicago. She made rapid progress in the profession, and played leading parts with Booth during the third season. Since then she has appeared in leading parts in all the leading theatres in the country. Two seasons she traveled as an attraction south, and then commenced a managerial and starring career of great success. Her repertoire is a large and varied one, and includes all of the standard comedies. Her versatility and powers are wonderful, and are best illustrated by her success in the management of the Pence opera house, in Minneapolis. Upon obtaining possession of this house she set about organizing a stock company and began the presentation of legitimate plays, against a well established house, run on the combination system. That she succeeded in making money and keeping a first-class company together for one year, in a city with the population of Minneapolis, is perhaps the highest praise that could be accorded her. She filled an engagement of forty successive weeks in Leadville, two years ago, and left that city with the love and the deepest regret of theater-goers and of the best society people, with whom she was a great favorite. On her way to Leadville, on that occasion, she played in the Forrester opera house, this city. Attractive in person and mind, ambitious, earnest, hard working and a diligent student, there is a great future for Miss McAllister in her profession.

Railroad Purchase.

NOVASOTA, March 10.—The Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe road to-day purchased the Courtney & Montgomery railroad as a feeder to the main line. It is twenty-eight miles long and will be extended to the Long Leaf Pine region in southeastern Texas.

Raid on Stocks.

NEW YORK, March 11.—Active stocks have fallen 2 to 5 since opening sales. Stocks are being raided. Lake Shore is very weak and 3 lower; Western Union 1⅛ lower.

OUT WEST.

Gunnison City is to have both gas and water works.

There is some talk of a crack billiard match between the crack players of Pueblo soon.

State Superintendent Cornell reports that Leadville has a school population of 1,200.

The annual parade and inspection of the Leadville fire department took place on Friday.

Dyson Eskridge is now in New Mexico distinguishing himself as a rival of Billy the Kid.

Deldorila is the name of a new and prosperous mining town twenty miles south of Gunnison City.

The commissioners report that the earnings of the state penitentiary for the past year have been $36,000.

A lady school teacher of Denver has been in the habit of sending one of her pupils out for fifteen cents worth of beer at recess.

CULTURE.

Its Effect Upon a Massachusetts Girl.

A Boston journal has the following: A few months ago the daughter of a Rockland man, who has grown comfortably well off in the small grocery line, was sent away to a "female college," and last week she arrived home for the holiday vacation. The old man was in attendance at the depot when the train arrived, with the old horse in the delivery wagon to convey the daughter and her trunk to the house. When the train had stopped, a bewitching array of dry goods, and a wide-brimmed hat dashed from the car, and flung herself into the elderly party's arms.

"Why you superlative pa!" she exclaimed; "I'm ever so utterly glad to see you."

The old man was somewhat unnerved by the greeting, but he recognized the sealskin cloak in his grip as the identical piece of property he had paid for with the bay mare, and he sort of squat it up in his arms, and planted a kiss where it would do the most good with a report that sounded above the noise of the depot. In a brief space of time the trunk and its attendant baggage were loaded into the wagon, which was soon bumping over the hubbles toward home.

"Pa, dear," said the young miss, surveying the team with a critical eye, "do you consider this quite excessively beyond?"

"Hey?" returned the old man, with a puzzled air; "quite excessive beyond what? Beyond Warren? I consider it somewhat about ten mile beyond Warren, countin' from the Bath way, if that's what you mean."

"Oh, no, pa, you don't understand me," the daughter explained. "I mean this wagon and horse. Do you think they are soulful—do you think they could be studied apart in the light of a symphony, or even a simple poem, and appear as intensely utter to one on returning home as one could express?"

The old man twisted uneasily in his seat and muttered something about he believed it used to be used for an express before he bought it to deliver pork in; but the conversation appeared to be traveling in such a lonesome direction that he fetched the horse a resounding crack on the rotunda, and the severe jolting over the frozen ground prevented further remarks.

"Oh, there is that lovely and consummate ma!" screamed the returned collegiatess, as they drew up at the door; and presently she was lost in the embrace of a motherly woman in spectacles.

"Well, Maria," said the old man at the supper table, as he clipped a piece of butter off the lump with his own knife, "ah, how'd you like your schoo l?"

"Well, there, pa, now you're shou—I mean I consider it far too beyond," replied the daughter. "It is unquenchably ineffable. The girls are so sumptuously stunning—I mean grand—so exquisite—so intense. And then the parties, the balls, the rides—oh! the past weeks have been one sublime harmony."

"I s'pose so, I s'pose so," nervously assented the old man, as he reached for his third cup "half full"—but how about your books—readin', writin', grammar, rule o' three—how about them?"

"Pa! don't!" exclaimed the daughter reproachfully; "the rule of three! grammar! It is French and music and painting and the divine in art that have made my school life the boss. I mean that have rendered it one unbroken flow of rythmic bliss—incomparably exquisitely all but."

The grocery man and his wife looked helplessly at each other across the table. After a lonesome pause the old lady said:

"How do you like the biscuits, Maria?"

"They are too utter for anything," gushed the accomplished young lady, "and this plum preserve is simply a poem in itself."

The old man rose abruptly from the table, and went out of the room, rubbing his head in a dazed and benumbed manner, and the mass convention was dissolved. That night he and his wife sat alone by the stove until a late hour, and at the breakfast table the next morning he rapped smartly on his plate with the handle of his knife and remarked:

"Maria, me an' your mother have been talkin' the thing over, and we've come to the conclusion that this boardin' school business is too utterly all but too much nonsense. Me an' her consider that we haven't lived sixty consummate years for the purpose of raising a curiosity, an' there's going to be a stop put to this unquenchable foolishness. Now, after you've finished eatin' that poem of fried sausage an' that symphony o' twisted doughnut, you take an' dust up stairs in less'n two seconds, and peel off that fancy gown an' put on a caliker, an' then come down here and help your mother wash dishes. I want it distinctly understood that there ain't goin' to be no more rhythmic foolishness in this house, so long's your superlative pa an' your lovely and consummate ma's running the ranch. You hear me, Maria?"

Maria was listening.

English Justice.

Senator Edmunds has something to say in the North American for March of the trial of the murderer of Garfield, and tells of some troublesome prisoners in English cases as follows:

"In the great state trial of the Earls of Sussex and Southampton before the English lords, barons and judges, in which Sir Edward Coke and Francis Bacon—afterward the famous lord chancellor—were counsel for the prosecution, running observations the reverse of complimentary were interchanged between some of the lords and prisoners. Essex accused Coke of being a perjured liar, Bacon of being a hypocrite and time-server; and when Sir Walter Raleigh was sworn as a witness, asked, 'What booteth it to swear the fox?' Once the lord high steward attempted to stop what he called these 'expostulations,' but without success. The French ambassador at the Court of St. James, who was an eye witness of the trial, in writing to a member of his own government, and speaking of its scenes, says: 'Shortly afterward, the counsel ended their pleading, and the peers their biscuits and beer. For while the earls and the counsel were pleading, my lords guzzled as if they had not eaten for a fortnight, smoking also plenty of tobacco. Then they went into a room to give their voices; and there, stupid with eating, and drunk with smoking, they condemned the two earls.'"

Stockholders' Meeting.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Mexican National Construction company to elect members of the board of directors and transact such other business as may lawfully come before the meeting, will be held at the principal office of the company at Colorado Springs, in the state of Colorado, on the first Monday of April, 1882, at twelve o'clock noon.

The transfer books of the company for the transfer of stock will be closed on the 14th day of March instant, and remain closed until three days after the final adjournment of such meeting.

By order of the board of directors.

WALTER HINCHMAN, President.

W. W. NEVIN, Secretary.
Dated March 4, 1882. c-4-1m

Sealed Proposals for Railroad Ties.

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the undersigned until noon of Friday, March 31, '82, for furnishing 400,000 cross ties, to be delivered along the line of the Denver & Rio Grande railway, between Marshall pass and Gunnison and Crested Butte and Gunnison, and between Gunnison and the western boundary line of Colorado, deliveries to be made during the months of June, July, August and September, 1882.

Said ties to be made of good, sound live pine or spruce timber, to be six feet six inches long between shoulders, not less than seven nor more than seven and one-half inches in thickness, hewn smooth and straight to two parallel faces not less than seven inches wide at the smallest place and peeled free from bark.

Bidders will specify at or near what points their deliveries will be made, and in what quantities at each place. They will also indicate what number each of pine, white spruce and red spruce ties they propose to furnish.

Inspection will be made of all ties delivered each month, and payment for all accepted will be made in cash, less ten per cent withheld until completion of contract, during the month following.

Bidders must be prepared to give a good and sufficient indemnifying bond in case of being awarded contract.

Right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Terms of proposals can be had on application to

OMAHA & DENVER SHORT LINE.

Its Convenience to Colorado Business Men.

Commencing Sunday, November 6, 1881, the Union Pacific company will run a fast Omaha express through between Denver and Omaha daily, over the recently constructed Julesburg cut-off:

Leaving Denver (breakfast)........ 8:00 a. m.
Arrive at Sterling (dinner) .... 1:20 p. m.
Arrive at North Platte .... 7:30 p. m.
Arrive at Omaha .... 7:30 a. m.
Arrive at Council Bluffs (breakfast) .. 8:00 a. m.
Arrive at Chicago (Chicago time) ... 6:30 a. m.

Time, Denver to Omaha, twenty-three and one-half hours; time, Denver to Chicago, forty-six hours.

This new route is 156 miles shorter than any rival, six hours the quickest to Omaha, seven to fifteen hours the quickest to Chicago, St. Louis and all points east, and it runs the finest trains ever built constructed by the Pullman company expressly for this line. They embody every feature of safety, convenience and luxury yet attained in railway equipment. It is the only through line possessing a water grade across the plains (averaging less than ten feet to the mile). It is the most picturesque route, has the best dining stations, the heaviest steel rails, best iron bridges and most careful ballasting.

Passengers from Leadville, Gunnison, San Juan and all points in southern Colorado make close connection in the Union depot, Denver, and arrive in Chicago and all eastern cities so as to have a full day for business on the day of arrival, practically saving from twelve to twenty-four hours, and avoiding all night changes.

Meantime the old Kansas Pacific route, now Kansas division Union Pacific railway, to Kansas City and all points east and southeast, and the Pioneer Union Pacific route from Denver, via Cheyenne, to Omaha and the east and northeast, maintain their usual standard of excellence. Tickets via Cheyenne are good over the new route, or vice versa. 1-48-tf
